

RAIL UNIONS SET MARCH 11 FOR STOPPAGE

Deadline for Progressive Strike Tying Up Nation's Rail System Is Next Monday

DELAY STILL POSSIBLE

Cleveland, March 6—(P)—Heads of two big railroad brotherhoods, the trainmen and engineers, today set 6 a. m. (EST) March 11 as the deadline for a progressive strike which would tie up the nation's rail system.

The expected announcement was made at a press conference called jointly by President A. F. Whitney of the Trainmen's Brotherhood, which has 215,000 members, and Alvanley Johnston, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers' 78,000 members.

The actual walkout could be delayed 30 to 60 days by the president's appointment of a fact-finding committee as provided by the railway labor act.

Such a committee would have 30 days in which to study the strike and report recommendations for a settlement. The panel's recommendations are not binding on either party to the dispute.

Johnston said at Washington last month when he and Whitney called on President Truman, that the brotherhoods probably would exhaust machinery set up by the railway labor act and on another occasion declared that "whatever provisions the law calls for we will abide by."

Chicago, March 6—(P)—Railroad management declared today that a strike called by engineers and trainmen for Monday was "a senseless and flagrant disregard of the railway labor act."

The carriers conference committee, representing major railroads engaged in arbitration of wage demands of 18 other brotherhoods, asserted in a statement that President A. F. Whitney of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Alvanley Johnston of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers have "haunted the law in calling this strike."

Whitney and Johnston, in Cleveland, headquarters of the two brotherhoods, representing some 300,000 members, promised a statement as the carrier managers said they had not been officially informed of the walkout by the brotherhoods.

Open Black Market Sugar Investigation

Pittsburgh, March 6—(P)—Assistant U. S. Attorney George Mashank said today that the federal grand jury will have evidence today that more than 1,250,000 pounds of sugar may have been sold illegally in this area at from an eighth to a quarter of a million dollars above OPA ceiling prices.

Mashank said OPA investigators and officials will be the first to take the stand before the grand jury, and added that one of four suspended OPA officials is expected to be a witness. Nine other subpoenas have been issued and the prosecution said it has 20 persons who would be called as the investigation gets under way.

Regional OPA Officials Declined to Name Any of the Persons Suspected of Being Connected with Illegal Sugar Sales

Both Mashank and the OPA officials said the probe covers a wide section of western Pennsylvania.

NEW BORN BABY FOUND

Indiana, March 6—(P)—The body of a newborn baby girl, wrapped in a woman's slip and burled, was found stuffed in a drain along the highway yesterday, one mile south of Indianapolis.

Coroner Ed D. Fleming said the body has been in the drain several days.

Shroyer Is On Opposite Side Of Long-Time Political Pal

Harrisburg, March 6—(P)—Governor Martin renewed a belief in party harmony today but declined to comment on the status of John U. Shroyer, state secretary of highways, a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in opposition to an organization-backed slate.

The governor told his news conference, in answer to questions that he would confer again with Shroyer on Friday.

Only yesterday, Shroyer said he would not withdraw from the race under any circumstances. Martin and Shroyer conferred yesterday and the governor's office later denied reports Shroyer was told to withdraw his candidacy or resign from the cabinet.

The organization ticket, agreed by party leaders, is headed by Governor Martin for U. S. senator, and Attorney General James H. Duff, another member of the governor's cabinet, for governor.

Martin declined comment on Shroyer's status at the news conference and was then asked if he expected to confer with Shroyer again.

Asserting he entered the primary race with "the full and prior

Baby's Wail Reveals Death of His Mother

Pittsburgh, March 6—(P)—The plaintive wailing of a four-months old baby boy led a hotel watchman early today to the body of his mother, Mrs. Rita Schaefer, 39, former WAC of nearby Wilkensburg.

Coroner William McClelland said an autopsy would be held to determine cause of death. Mrs. Schaefer had registered in the hotel after leaving her home yesterday without giving any reason her husband, J. P. Schaefer, said.

Schaefer told police: "I first met my wife at this hotel. Now I have to come here and find her dead."

Hopes Fade For Averting Phone Strike

Washington, March 6—(P)—More than 14 hours of steady government pressure failed early today to yield an agreement that might avert tomorrow's threatened nationwide telephone strike, but weary federal conciliators reported "some progress."

The walkout, by 17 member unions of the National Federation of Telephone Workers, is scheduled to begin at 6 a. m. Thursday in each time zone.

Wage negotiations between the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Federation of Long Lines Telephone Workers, an NFTW affiliate, began yesterday morning at the labor department and continued until 2 a. m. today.

As the meeting broke up, to reconvene later in the morning, Edgar L. Warren, chief of the Federal Conciliation Service, told newsmen: "No settlement had been reached, various formulas for settlement had been discussed, and 'I think we've made some progress.'"

Housing Bill Is Up For Final Vote

Washington, March 6—(P)—The badly-mauled administration housing bill, stripped of its "very heart" in President Truman's opinion, came up today for a final vote in the house.

The chamber has been seeking to reach final action on the measure since a week ago, and the resultant delay has brought a watering down of the legislation the White House asked to further its program to build 2,700,000 new homes in the next two years.

The rough treatment of the original bill was finally reversed late yesterday, however, when Democrats closed ranks to defeat 177 to 119 a complete Republican substitute for the administration bill.

This administration victory came, however, after a coalition of Republicans and a bloc of southern Democrats had rejected administration proposals for price ceilings on all existing dwellings and authority to use $600,000,000 in subsidies to bring out larger production of building materials.

By turning down the Republican substitute, the house defeated an effort to prevent price ceilings on new dwellings.

OPPOSITION PUZZLES LIGONIER HUNTERS

Ligonier, March 6—(P)—The Ligonier Lions Club will revive the century-old circular fox hunt here tomorrow, with leaders puzzled, but unmoved, by a flurry of protests.

John L. Mooney, co-chairman of the event with William G. Mathews, Westmoreland county game warden, said today some 500 shotgun-bearing hunters would form a 13½-mile circle at 9 a. m. tomorrow to begin the hunt. At a given signal the men will move toward the center, shooting foxes as they go.

Shroyer Is On Opposite Side Of Long-Time Political Pal

Harrisburg, March 6—(P)—Governor Martin renewed a belief in party harmony today but declined to comment on the status of John U. Shroyer, state secretary of highways, a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in opposition to an organization-backed slate.

The governor told his news conference, in answer to questions that he would confer again with Shroyer on Friday.

Only yesterday, Shroyer said he would not withdraw from the race under any circumstances. Martin and Shroyer conferred yesterday and the governor's office later denied reports Shroyer was told to withdraw his candidacy or resign from the cabinet.

The organization ticket, agreed by party leaders, is headed by Governor Martin for U. S. senator, and Attorney General James H. Duff, another member of the governor's cabinet, for governor.

Martin declined comment on Shroyer's status at the news conference and was then asked if he expected to confer with Shroyer again.

JAPS ADOPT CONSTITUTION BANNING WAR

Maintenance of Armed Forces Renounced in New and Drastic Order For Nipponese

MacARTHUR SANCTIONS

By RUSSELL BRINES

Tokyo, March 6—(P)—A new Japanese constitution renouncing war for all time and prohibiting the maintenance of armed forces was announced today.

General MacArthur, reporting that it was drafted with his full approval, emphasized that "the foremost of its provisions x x x that abolishing war as a sovereign right of the nation x x x renders (Japan's) future security and very survival to the good faith and justice of the peace loving people of the world."

Hirohito, who will be reduced from "a sacred and inviolable" emperor to a symbol of state with very limited formal functions, issued a special rescript stating: "It is my desire that the constitution of our empire be revised drastically upon the basis of the general will of the people and the principle of respect for the fundamental human rights."

"I command hereby the competent authorities of my government to put forth in conformity with my wish their best efforts toward accomplishment of this end."

(MacArthur's approval of the constitution, maintaining the Mikado as a symbol of state, presumably ends any possibility of his being arrested as a war crimes suspect.)

The proposed constitution vests sovereignty in the people and strips all governmental powers from the emperor.

It replaces the powerful house of peers with a house of councilors who must be elected by all of the people and who may be overruled by the house of representatives on some major issues.

It enumerates a long list of revolutionary individual rights for the Japanese.

It renounces "war as a sovereign right of the nation and the threat or use of force as a means of settling disputes."

Wataru Narahashi, chief cabinet secretary, told a press conference the constitution "is one of the drastic steps the government must take" and he "hopes it will be a bloodless revolution."

Premier Kijuro Shidehara said in a statement: "If our people are to occupy a place of honor in the family of nations, we must see to it that our constitution internally establishes firmly the foundation for democratic government and externally leads the rest of the world for abolition of war."

The constitution provides for selection of the premier by the diet, but also specifies that the present officers can remain. Nevertheless five members of the present cabinet may be forced to resign when a new extension of the MacArthur-ordered political purge is announced in a few days.

Withdrawal In Manchuria Hitting Snags

BY SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, March 6—(P)—The Chinese government has been pressing for withdrawal of Russian troops in Manchuria but Soviet authorities intimated their delay was "due to certain difficulties which they didn't specify."

Liu Chien, vice minister of foreign affairs, said today. He did not elaborate.

He also said China is keeping the United States informed on the course of Sino-Soviet negotiations.

Liu skipped some queries with a laconic "no comment" at a press conference.

Answers he did give showed that Russia had not informed China of the movements and size of Soviet forces at Port Arthur—made a joint Sino-Russian naval base under the Sino-Soviet treaty of last Aug. 14.

Reports received by the Chinese government confirmed that Soviet troops were being withdrawn from the area.

PUNXSUTAWNEY VOTES FOR FLOOD CONTROL

Punxsutawney, March 6—(P)—Citizens of Punxsutawney, riding to the polls in 35 automobiles provided by the Chamber of Commerce, approved a $125,000 flood control budget in a special election yesterday by a vote of 2,218 to 102.

Local persons said the turnout, more than two-thirds of the community's 3,435 registered voters, was about normal for Punxsutawney.

The town subscribes only $125,000, to the bond issue whereas the federal government will expend about $1,750,000. The project will erect walls and dikes, widen and straighten the Mahoning Creek and dig a distance of almost four miles through the city.

Burgess John C. Shermier said that after the improvements are made the creek will carry at least 20 percent more water.

PRES. TRUMAN APPEALS FOR CHURCH SUPPORT FOR LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM

First National Phone Tieup In History Is Facing Country

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, March 6—(P)—Tomorrow's threatened telephone strike would be the first national telephone tie-up in history. The ABC of it:

The National Federation of Telephone Workers (NFTW) claims 250,000 members, such as telephone operators, repairmen, clerical workers, installers, linemen.

That National Federation is made up of 51 local unions. (Some of these locals also call themselves federations whether they operate in several states or just in one city.)

Of the 51 local unions, only 17 would go on strike directly. The other 34 would refuse to cross picket lines thrown up by the strikers.

Higher Wages For Soft Coal Miners Loom

Washington, March 6—(P)—Bituminous coal operators agreed today to talk about higher wages with John L. Lewis if the nation's coal "requirement" can be met with a shorter work week.

The operators, calling upon Lewis to negotiate new contract without a work stoppage, said they would enter the conference beginning next Tuesday "in a full spirit of cooperation." Lewis has served formal notice under the Smith-Connally act that a labor dispute exists and that a strike may be called April 1.

Music Boosters To Assist In Band Concert Exchange

Warren School Music Boosters Club members, holding their March meeting in Beatty school auditorium last evening, voted all-out efforts in helping Director Harry A. Summers boost the coming Dragon-OWL Band exchange concerts between Warren and Bradford high schools.

These dates have been previously set for March 15, when Director Summers will take the Dragons to Bradford, and March 22, when Rodney Schock, Owl director, and his students will be guests in Warren.

Norristown School Head Enters Denial

Norristown, March 6—(P)—George W. Balles, Jr., 32-year-old headmaster of a private school, and his wife, Laura, 37, today denied completely all charges of immorality connected with girl pupils.

Balles, who told a Montgomery county jury yesterday that "I never put my hands on" any of his pupils, was asked in cross-examination at his trial by District Attorney Frederick B. Smilie if he had sexual relations with any of the girls.

"You are very disgusting, sir," Balles replied, and then made a blanket denial of all (18) morals counts on which he was indicted.

His wife followed him to the stand and testified she was a registered nurse, that she was a graduate of St. Francis Hospital, Trenton, N. J., and that she maintained discipline at the private school.

"At no time," she stated, "were either my husband or myself guilty of immoral conduct."

Balles, who operated the Warren Military Academy, a co-educational institution, is charged with rape, contributing to the delinquency of minors, open lewdness, assault and battery and corrupting public morals. Mrs. Balles is also under indictment on morals counts.

"Certain Interests" Greedy For Gold Blamed By Executive For Opposition To Many Bills

Columbus, O., March 6—(P)—President Truman today laid at the door of "certain interests," which he described as "greedy for gold," the responsibility for much of the opposition to his domestic legislative program.

Appealing directly for church support of measures which have bogged down in congress, the president told a special session of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America:

"A truly religious fervor among our people would go a long way toward obtaining a national health program, a national housing program, a national education program, and an extended and improved social security program."

While newsreel and still camera men photographed the scene, the president at the throttle of the 10-car special through Bloomingburg, Mt. Sterling and Derby, O., at a 60-mile-an-hour clip.

Reporters, reminding him that he had performed briefly as engineer on his trip from Washington to Fulton, Mo., warned that he might get into "union trouble."

"Oh, they gave me a card," he answered, smiling.

Attaches said Mr. Truman was an honorary member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Mr. Truman was accompanied by Columbus by former Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain.

Neither Mr. Truman nor any of his aides made any comment on Churchill's proposal for an Anglo-American alliance or his criticism of Soviet Russian "expansion."

Speaking after a parade through flag-draped, crowd-lined high street from his special train to the Eschler-Wallick hotel, the president called for "a rising standard" of home life.

He urged religious support also for the development of atomic energy under "a high moral code" to rescue a "sick" world "in the doorway to destruction."

The president said that if the people "really believed in the brotherhood of man, it would not be necessary to pass a fair employment practices act" to prevent racial discrimination in job-giving, and added:

"Certain interests were not so greedy for gold there would be less pressure and lobbying to induce congress to allow the price control to expire, or to keep down minimum wages, or to permit further concentration of economic power."

"A truly religious fervor among our people would go a long way toward obtaining a national health program, a national housing program, and an extended and improved social security program."

The development of atomic energy, the president told the church leaders, has left mankind "in the doorway to destruction—or upon the threshold of the greatest age in history," and added "only a high moral code can master this new power of the universe, and develop it for the common good."

Mr. Truman spoke at a special meeting of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America after his arrival from Fulton, Mo., where he introduced former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill for a foreign policy speech at Westminster College yesterday. He planned to fly back to Washington.

He called upon the forces of "decency and righteousness" to make full use of their war-won freedom to save a world beset by "threats of new conflicts, new terror and destruction."

G. M. Strike Is Termed Lockout

BULLETIN

Washington, March 6—(P)—James F. Dewey, special coordinator in the General Motors strike, was summoned suddenly today by Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach to meet with him in Washington.

A labor department spokesman said Dewey was called in to report on the situation "in view of the impasse" in Detroit negotiations in the 105-day-old CIO union dispute with GM.

Detroit, March 6—(P)—CIO United Auto Workers officials, charging their 106-day General Motors strike is now a "lockout," meet again today (2:30 p. m. EST) with corporation officials in renewed attempts at settlement.

Both sides awaited the outcome of a planned telephone conference between Special Federal Mediator James F. Dewey and labor department officials in Washington.

Dewey, denying persistent rumors last night that talks would move to the capitol, said he planned to contact Labor Secretary Lewis B. Schwellenbach or one of his aides regarding the GM deadlock.

The union's "lockout" charge came yesterday after GM repeated its rejection of a UAW proposal for arbitration of unsettled issues.

"The refusal of the corporation to arbitrate the issues xxx clearly makes this strike a lockout," the UAW said in a statement from President R. J. Thomas, Secretary George F. Addes and Vice President Walter P. Reuther.

$18,000 Fire Loss At Tank Car Co. Plant

Fire at the plant of the Warren Tank Car Company shortly after noon today did damage estimated by Benj. Mathis, president of the company, at about $18,000. The fire was discovered in one corner of the structure where a motor was located to drive machinery in the sandblasting department. It is thought the motor became overheated and started the fire, which spread to all parts of the sandblasting department.

This department is located to the east of the main buildings of the plant and it was soon a mass of roaring flames. Firemen from Warren responded and aided in keeping the fire out of the main plant. Some lumber piled near the burning building caught fire and had to be quenched several times.

Mr. Mathis stated that the building housed the sandblasting machinery, which was used to scour and clean the tank cars. It is specially designed mechanical equipment and cannot be replaced at the present time. It was valued at $12,000. In the burned building was also a carload.

Jodl Denies Claim He Was "Warmonger"

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Nuernberg, March 6—(P)—The international military tribunal was told today that Gen. George C. Marshall's 1945 report to President Truman would disprove the charge that Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl, last chief of staff of the German army, was a "warmonger."

"These notes by one of the Allies' most outstanding officers about the activity of the German high command and general staff relieve Jodl of the reproach of having been a warmonger with far-reaching plans of conquest."

Defense Attorney Franz Exner said in requesting that the Marshall report be furnished Jodl for his defense.

Jodl also asked the tribunal's permission to introduce in his defense reports by Adolf Hitler's headquarters dated Sept. 2 and Oct. 7, 1942, relative to the fettering of German prisoners captured in the raid on Dieppe. Because of this, he said, the German high command ordered reprisals.

In addition, the defense demanded the right to present a Nazi Foreign Office compilation of Red Cross reports relative to breaches of international law by the Allied powers as "cause for high command reprisals;" and the Soviet official view of partisan warfare in White Russia as evidence justifying "thorough counter measures."

Earlier, the tribunal, on written request from Hermann Goering's attorney, postponed the opening of the No. 1 defendant's defense from tomorrow until Friday.

Another defendant, Baldur von Schirach, former head of the Hitler Youth movement, asserted in a written appeal for witnesses that they would prove he sought the fuhrer's permission to be a peace envoy to the United States in 1940.

Democratic Candidates Plan State Get-Acquainted Tour

Harrisburg, March 6—(P)—Expectant of a campaign unmarred by factionalism, Democratic statewide candidates went into the field today to acquaint themselves—without speechmaking—with county and local party leaders.

State Chairman J. Warren Mickle said members of the slate "got acquainted" with each other at a conference here yesterday.

They were U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey, seeking a third term; Col. John S. Rice, for governor; State Senator John H. Dent, for lieutenant governor, and Sgt. Al Schmid, for secretary of internal affairs.

Schmid, coming here for the first time since his endorsement for the internal affairs post, said he will wait until "after I am nominated" to make a speechmaking tour with the remainder of the slate.

The 25-year-old blind marine hero said he entered into politics because "I wanted to do something for veterans and the Democratic party is giving me that opportunity."

The Democratic state executive committee nominated yesterday candidates for vacancies in congress, the state senate and the state house of representatives.

Governor Martin has fixed the date of the May primary for special elections to fill all the vacancies.

UNITY OF TWO NATIONS PLEA OF CHURCHILL

Stern Warning Against "Indefinite Expansion" of Russia Is Issued By British Statesman

IS GIVEN A DEGREE

Fulton, Mo., March 6—(P)—Winston Churchill, with a stern warning against "indefinite expansion" of Russian "power and doctrines," is planning his hopes for the next century of mankind on a "fraternal association" of the United States and Great Britain.

In one of the major addresses of his long career, and his most pertinent utterance on world peace since he stepped down as Britain's prime minister last June, Churchill voiced his warning and his hopes here yesterday in an academic setting where he was introduced by President Truman.

Churchill expressed faith in a British-American "fraternal association"—"eventually there may come the principle of common citizenship."

He and the president received honorary degrees of doctor of laws from Westminster College here after traveling from Washington by special train.

The president presented Churchill to the immediate audience of some 3,000 in the college's gymnasium as "one of the great men of the age."

When Churchill had finished, and he and the president received their degrees, Truman's acceptance remarks included nothing specific about Russia; nothing specific about a British-American alliance.

Instead, the president said the time had come to make the United Nations' charter "the law of the land and the law of the world."

Churchill made it clear he spoke only for himself.

Fresh from a Florida vacation, his language sparkled with his own particular brand of phrase-making.

Churchill's words, "the crux" of what he came to mid-America to say, concerned the "fraternal association" of the English-speaking peoples.

Churchill did not mention Russia by name until he wistfully through his speech. When he came to that point, he said:

"A shadow has fallen upon the scenes so lately lighted by the Allied victory. Nobody knows what Soviet Russia and its Communist International organization intends to do in the immediate future, or what are the limits, if any, to their expansive and proselytizing tendencies."

Declaring that "this is certainly not the liberated Europe" we fought to build up, Churchill cited examples of Russian activity: Warsaw, Berlin, Prague, Vienna, Budapest, Belgrade, Bucharest and Sofia subjected to "a very high and increasing measure of control from Moscow"; the Russian-dominated Polish government encouraged to make "enormous and wrongful inroads upon Germany"; an attempt to build up a "quasi-Communist party" in Germany and Communist influences at work in Italy and France. He mentioned the anxiety over the "Red" threat in Manchuria, and said Turkey and Persia are "profoundly alarmed" by Moscow demands.

Britain's wartime leader held that due to the uncertain world situation it would be "wrong and impudent" for the United States, Britain and Canada to give the secret of the atomic bomb to the UNO while that agency "is still in its infancy."

TEACHER HEART VICTIM

Altoona, March 6—(P)—Blair County Coroner Danile M. Replogle announced that Harry H. Beacham, retired grade school teacher, died of a heart attack while attending the Altoona-Indiana high school basketball game last night in Jaffa Mosque. Beacham was 68.

Talk of the Month Speaker Gave Impressive Wealth Of Facts On the Nation

Six influences upon future America were ably presented and discussed last night by James L. Wick, noted economist, correspondent and author, when he appeared before the Talk-of-the-Month Club audience, numbering about 350 persons, in Founders Hall of the First Methodist church.

Mr. Wick was introduced by Miss Edna Glasser, for the College Women's Club, which had charge of last night's meeting of the lecture-sponsoring organization. The other sponsors are the Men's Bible Class of the First Methodist church, the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A.

Speaking with ease, impressiveness and sometimes humor, for well over an hour, followed by another fifteen or twenty minutes of questions and answers, Mr. Wick gave his Warren hearers a wealth of facts and interpretations concerning factors and problems which are seriously influencing the future of this country and of the world.

The first influence discussed by the speaker was the productivity of the period upon which America is now entering, with emphasis upon the changes indicated by astounding advances in technological, including telephone, radio, electronic and atomic energies. He said "Thus far no farther" and said in convincingly, we will prevent war, was the speaker's advice, adding that Congress and the White House is eager to hear from us ordinary citizens on this subject.

The sixth and last influence mentioned by Mr. Wick was the fear of the atomic bomb. He said "The bomb dropped on Hiroshima was more world-shaking than the war itself." He declared that one of the ways to world peace is at America's command, by following a four-point program: (1) by outlawing the atomic bomb, (2) by establishing an atomic energy commission with a rigid inspection system, (3) by permitting unrestricted air travel, so that atomic bomb plants cannot be set up without notice, and (4) by seeing that all nations join in the program, those refraining to be treated as world menaces.

Mr. Wick closed his address by indicating how the use of atomic energy in the future will reduce the number of hours of work required, and by declaring that this is going to be "a great challenge to religion and education."

The next Talk-of-the-Month Club date is March 25, when Mrs. Welby Housinger Fisher will be the speaker, and the fourth and last lecture will be on May 1, when Judge J. M. Braude will give the address.

Civil Service Board Will Handle Work of Two Groups

Although the Act placing firemen over the state in paid fire departments under Civil Service went into effect last June Warren officially took no action along that line until this week. City Solicitor Sidney Blackman called attention of the Council to the matter and it was decided to take action to include the firemen in the Warren Department.

To that end it was suggested and finally decided upon by the Council that the same Civil Service Board that acts for the Police Department will also take over the work for the Fire Department. This Board is composed of one Councilman, Robert Trusler and two citizens H. J. Onions and Howard Alexander.

The board will act upon all applications for places in both the police and fire departments in the future.

DOING GOOD JOB

Street commissioner Webster and his boys are doing a good job getting the cinders and other accumulation of winter dirt off the streets. It's a big task getting down to the pavement through the mess but it is being accomplished. Truck loads of the debris are being hauled away and dumped.

MILD WEATHER AHEAD

Advanced weather reports are to the effect that while the temperature may fall slightly before the end of the week temperatures will be mild until next Sunday, at least. Tulips, crocuses and other spring flowers are becoming well advanced and are coming up in the flower beds about the city.

HAD BAD FIRE

St. Marys had one of its most costly fires in years at 1:30 Tuesday morning when flames were discovered in the Fure Carbon Company. Firemen were on the job until 8:30 Tuesday morning and used 19 streams of water on the blaze before it was subdued. The loss will amount into the thousands. The company has established temporary quarters in the Mullendean Hotel.

READY FOR SUMMER

Park employees have been busy during the winter months rehabilitating the playground and park equipment and the task is now about complete ready for the placing of the benches, apparatus, etc. With the ever increasing demand for picnic permits in the parks of the city the facilities have been greatly increased. Thirty-eight tables have been put into use during the past years and these are of such construction that they can be moved where there is a greater demand. Fireplaces at Washington and other parks have also multiplied in number and have been in great demand during the summer months. The park superintendent will put out the tables, benches, etc., early as spring picnics always attract. It is also hoped to improve the path from Laurel street to Washington Park as it has been washed in some places during the past year.

Scoutmasters Training Course Plans Have Been Completed

T. R. Sponsler, chairman of the leadership training committee of the Warren County Council, Boy Scouts of America, announced today plans for a Scoutmaster Training course.

The course will be held at the Warren YMCA on Friday evenings starting March 15 at 7:30. Sponsler said that the course will feature training pictures recently made by the Boy Scouts of America expressly for such courses. The sessions will continue for six weeks and end with an overnight camp at Camp Jefferson on Friday and Saturday April 26 and 27.

The interesting and informative film "The Patrol Method" will be shown at the second session of the Scoutmaster's Training on March 22. The film is a 16mm sound film with a running time of 40 minutes made especially for instruction of Scoutmasters to show them the best methods of forming and leading the patrols of their troops.

Various subjects related to the operation of a Boy Scout Troop will be taken up by the course of training. The subjects include "The Nature of the Boy," "The Patrol Method," "Hiking and Camping," "Troop Program," "Advancement," and "Troop Records." Many successful Scoutmasters of the county have been asked to take part in the course as instructors.

Final plans for the training were made at a meeting of the Leadership Training Committee held last night in the home of Mr. Sponsler with the following men present: C. Ray Lewis, William M. Smith, Sponsler and Frank Parker Scout Executive.

Clarendon Man Is Revealed As Man Behind the VT Fuse

Dr. L. Grant Hector, born and reared at Clarendon and a graduate of the Warren High School, is the man behind the VT fuse, as the scientist behind the famous VT fuse which made the gunnery of the allies almost perfect. He is the son of Mrs. J. M. (Hector) Campbell, of Clarendon.

The achievement of Dr. Hector is told in a recent feature story in the Buffalo Evening News which reads as follows:

The man who developed the tiny radio tube that made possible the now famous VT, or variable-time fuse, regarded by some experts as second only to the atomic bomb in military importance, is well-known to Buffalonians. He is Dr. L. Grant Hector, formerly professor of physics at the University of Buffalo and consulting radio engineer for Station WBBN. Since 1943 he has been directing engineer of the National Union Radio Corporation of Newark, N. J., an affiliate of Philco.

The story of the development of the fuse was recounted by Dr. Hector Thursday evening before the Radio Club of America in New York.

Dr. Hector took over the research in tubes July 1, 1941, about ten months after the British, dissatisfied with the inaccuracy of anti-aircraft fire with time-fused shells, tried building a combination radio transmitter and receiver into the nose of a projectile.

The British idea was brought to this country by Dr. Merle Anthony Tuve, research physicist at Carnegie Institute of Technology, whose "timeless energy and drive sparking" such an impossible-sounding job," Dr. Hector says.

But American scientists faced the same problem that had baffled their English colleagues, to make a radio tube that would not fly apart when fired from a gun. The tube was an essential part of the fuse which, fixed in the nose of a projectile, was fired from a gun in tests at an acceleration 20,000 times the force of gravity and would spin 475 times a second.

Dr. Hector and his staff made development contracts with seven electronic companies and by February 1942 the tubes were in large-scale production.

The tube finally developed by Dr. Hector and his assistants is 5/8 of an inch long and 3/8 of an inch in diameter, about the size of a man's little fingernail. The metal parts of the tiny tube are constructed in accordance with the engineering principles used in bridges and skyscrapers. High-quality glass and the reduction of strains to a minimum enable the tubes to withstand the shock of being fired from guns.

The tubes are mounted in rubber caps imbedded in a wax compound. Dr. R. D. Mindlin of Columbus University was responsible for much of the actual design work.

"The device does not assist in aiming the projectile," says Dr. Hector. "It does not make it follow the target. It simply replaces the time fuse and causes the projectile to explode at the proper distance in front of the plane. The combination of the new radar-aimed guns with this fuse, of course, is pretty deadly for aircraft."

"It was first used by the United States Fleet in the Pacific in January 1943. Since that date no battleships have been lost by aircraft attack, only one heavy cruiser, one aircraft carrier, and no light cruisers. It was first used over land to knock down buzz-bombs over England. It was not used at first for this job because the Royal Air Force thought it could do the work with fighter planes."

"The reason for not using it over enemy territory was that it was imperative that the enemy should not find out how to make the device. Had German cities been protected with this device, the cost of our bomber losses would have been so great that we could not have carried out the bombing of Germany."

"Used in Bulge Battle
"However, special fuses were prepared for Army use and were held in readiness."
"The high command decided that the crucial moment had come in the Battle of the Bulge and the fuse was used to make artillery shells explode in the air over German infantry, showering them with shrapnel."

"Some tacticians think that this use of the device was more important in the war than the original job of protecting the battleships, not because the battleships were unimportant but because fighter planes and small machine-gun type cannon on the ships were also fairly successful in protecting the ships."

"The great advantage of this fuse to the battleships in comparison to the small cannon was that it was used with large-enough guns to get the planes before they were near enough to have a chance at dropping bombs or torpedoes."

The number of new telephones installed by the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania in the last three months of 1945 exceeded that of any quarter in the company's history. Philip C. Staples, president, said in the company's annual report, made public today. The company showed a net gain for 1945 of 33,194 telephones, bringing the total number of Bell telephones in Pennsylvania to 1,714,159.

Volumes of toll and long distance calls also surged upwards, he reported, reaching a total of 181,973,000 calls in 1945, which compared with 160,873,000 calls in 1944 and 126,845,000 in 1943.

The company's $150,000,000 post-war program is now in progress, Mr. Staples said, pointing out that it embraces "every element" of the telephone plant, including service for moving vehicles, "through dialing" by operators and other developments which had to be shelved during the war period.

"The attraction of new capital to meet the needs of this enormous construction program is a matter which does not take care of itself; it is one which calls for close attention, and its accomplishment is completely dependent on a satisfactory showing and prospect of earnings," he said.

"Earnings from operation and return to the stockholders, just as in any other business enterprise must be such as to promise the investor of new capital both security of investment and adequacy of dividend return."

He pointed out that for the last four years, the annual common stock dividend has been at a rate below normal 88.

ERECTING QUARTERS

Fourteen prefabricated dormitory buildings, accommodating 840 unmarried veterans, and 50 additional trailers for married ex-GIs will be installed on the Pennsylvania State College campus in time for occupancy in the fall semester, President R. D. Hetzel, in making the announcement, said the units will come from the Baltimore area through a lease arrangement between Penn State and the Federal Public Housing Authority.

FATALITIES INCREASED

An intensive highway safety campaign and strict enforcement of motor vehicle laws are an urgent need since the nation-wide traffic fatality increased by 4,000, or 17 per cent during 1945. R. B. Maxwell, secretary-manager of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, which represents 61 AAA motor clubs throughout the state, said today. The automobile club official cited the nation-wide toll of 28,500, and reported that Pennsylvania itself showed an 11 per cent increase in fatalities during the year with the state death toll reaching 1,380.

OPPORTUNITY OFFERED

An unusual opportunity is offered to rural boys and girls interested in becoming 4-H Club members through a program sponsored by the American Jersey Cattle Club, which is appropriating $4,500 and more in prizes to winners in calf clubs. District IV of the Pennsylvania Jersey Cattle Club is sponsoring a dinner meeting on March 8th at 7 o'clock in Titusville, to which parents as well as boys and girls 10 to 20 years of age who are interested in becoming 4-H club members, are invited to attend. All Jersey breeders are urged to attend this meeting. Reservations can be made by telephoning to Carleton Curtis, R. D. 1, Columbus (30-901).

Staples, president, said in the company's annual report, made public today. The company showed a net gain for 1945 of 33,194 telephones, bringing the total number of Bell telephones in Pennsylvania to 1,714,159.

Volumes of toll and long distance calls also surged upwards, he reported, reaching a total of 181,973,000 calls in 1945, which compared with 160,873,000 calls in 1944 and 126,845,000 in 1943.

The company's $150,000,000 post-war program is now in progress, Mr. Staples said, pointing out that it embraces "every element" of the telephone plant, including service for moving vehicles, "through dialing" by operators and other developments which had to be shelved during the war period.

"The attraction of new capital to meet the needs of this enormous construction program is a matter which does not take care of itself; it is one which calls for close attention, and its accomplishment is completely dependent on a satisfactory showing and prospect of earnings," he said.

"Earnings from operation and return to the stockholders, just as in any other business enterprise must be such as to promise the investor of new capital both security of investment and adequacy of dividend return."

He pointed out that for the last four years, the annual common stock dividend has been at a rate below normal 88.

MISUNDERSTANDING

Editor Times-Mirror:
In the report of the meeting of the Town Council in last evening's Times-Mirror it should have been made clear that it was the Board of Health that made the request for the increase in Ann McGary's salary as clerk of the Board. The salary paid is $85 per month which is not sufficient. In addition she receives $5 monthly for answering phone calls for the Visiting Nurse and also acts as Registrar for the Bureau of Vital statistics. This requires 24 hour service and the maintenance of a telephone. In its budget the Board of Health carried the increase to $100 per month for the clerk, a fact which Council evidently overlooked Monday evening. The request for an increase in monthly salary to $100 for the clerk is due and well earned.

One Who Knows.

A SUGGESTION

Times-Mirror:
Guess the only way we'll ever get done hotfooting around with a garbage can is to put the old squeeze play on the Councilmen. Why not all of us housewives call up our Councilman and give him a piece of our mind? Sort of seems like our worthy lawmakers are scared of the garbage companies. Boo!

Housewife.

SHAM AND DELUSION

Secretary of State Byrnes must have realized, when he prepared his Overseas Press Club speech, that he would be subjected to renewed left-wing attack as a Red-baiter. It is the thesis of Communists and pro-Communists that any frank discussion of Soviet foreign policy is designed to drum up a World War III in which the rest of the world will gang up on Russia says S. Burton Heath in an editorial written for NEA Service, Inc., and the Times-Mirror.

This is, of course, the exact opposite of the truth. Secretary Byrnes lifted himself several notches in the direction of major statesmanship when he warned that Russia's current aggression offends against the Charter of the United Nations, and that our country is prepared to defend that charter.

We have just finished fighting a deadly war on behalf of certain principles. We fought only in small part for idealistic reasons. We spent our material wealth and we spilled the blood of our best youth because we were convinced that there never could be permanent peace until this world lived under the Four Freedoms.

We are happy if the war may bring the blessings of democracy, of self-determination, to smaller, less fortunate nations. But we did not fight for them. We went to war because we wanted peace badly enough to fight for it, spend for it, even die for it.

The United Nations Organization was created in an effort to obtain active co-operation to eliminate the causes of war. The Charter, with all its faults, is designed to protect the fundamental rights of every nation from Russia to Liechtenstein—not, primarily, for love of Russians or Liechtensteinians, but because when the rights of any people, however tiny, are infringed upon by any other people, however great, a new seed of world war is planted in fertile soil.

During the entire period in which the war was being won and the United Nations organized, Russia pursued a whole series of nationalistic aggressions that offended against the principles which must underlie world peace.

We made every allowance for Russia. Month after month—indeed, year after year—we hoped that she might really be a gentle lamb in wolf's clothing, and we appeared her shamefully, permitting her to get away with most of the things for which we fought Germany.

But we knew, really, that her course was pointing toward World War III. Neither the United States nor Great Britain, nor both, is going to attack Russia. Nor is Russia going to attack either of us. Nevertheless, Russia keeps whittling away at the fundamental principles of the United Nations Charter, deliberately doing those things that she and we have formally agreed are the causes of war.

Secretary Byrnes did the correct, courageous thing when he warned that we will fight again, if we must, to eliminate the causes of war. If he is wrong, and we are willing to see Russia do what we liquidated Germany and Japan for attempting, then the United Nations Organization is a sham and a delusion, and the United States an errant poltroon.

LENTEN SERMONETTE

By B. F. ARMSTRONG

Missionary of American Sunday School Union

Acts 17:26 Text.

"He hath made of one blood all nations of men, for to dwell on all the face of the earth." Paul is in Athens. His spirit has been greatly stirred within him. As he saw that great city was given over entirely to idolatry.

Paul was eager that everyone should know that the whole gospel was for the whole world. The great commission given by Jesus was not simply for the Jews, and to be kept at Jerusalem, but was for every nation and race.

It is said that a careful student of zoology can take bone fossil remains of an animal he has never seen and can tell you exactly to which species it belongs, and even draw a skeleton of the whole animal. He does this on account of the uniformity of the whole structure.

It is so with all the human family. There are many particulars in which there is clear proof that the human family is one, that God is the Father of us all. It is true as the poet says:

"We err in human kindness
And forget that we are dust;
We miss the law of kindness
In our struggles to be just."

Not only did God make of one blood all nations, but He appointed the bounds of their habitations. Every nation thus had its lot appointed by God, as truly as the Israelites had the land of Canaan.

Thus the Canaanites have been supplanted by the Jews, the Jews by the Saracens, the Saracens by the Turks, etc. This is likewise true with individuals. We are all born in sin, but each of us is a free moral agent; that is, we have the right of choosing either right or wrong, so if we deliberately sin, and go out into the far country, we are on the devil's territory and belong to Satan.

If we are all one, let us show it in our dealings with others, in our willingness to help each other, and to encourage others along the pathway of life.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

by Jack Stinnett
(Second of Two Articles)

WASHINGTON—The one great difference between National Housing Administrator Wilson W. Wyatt and a tornado is that the tornado blows houses down. The former Louisville (Ky.) mayor proposes to puff them up—2,700,000 of them by the end of 1947.

In order to do this, it is estimated that we will need 70 billion feet of lumber. The country's total lumber stocks these days look about like Aunt Mamie's kindling pile. We'll need seven billion bricks—and bricks are so scarce they are still practically not from the oven when the masons get them.

We'll need about 1,500,000 construction workers. And the building trades unions, for various reasons, are among the toughest to deal with when it comes to forced expansion overlapping work, etc.

THIS COULD go on forever, as for example an average of one and a half bathtubs or showers per building unit, or an extra million tons or so of pig iron. As Christine Sadler, housing expert for the Washington Post put it, the only thing we have plenty of to meet this program is "need and money." Wyatt figures those two things and plenty of sweat will put it over.

He has asked Congress for price controls; for financial backing to get the production expansion under way and convert surplus war plants to producing prefabrication units; and for several other controversial things, including ceilings on building materials. He knows he's in for a scrap in some circles on coming regulations. He is convinced that the housing crisis can't be met by "building as usual."

Wyatt's long face, made longer by a rapidly retreating hairline, ordinarily beams geniality. His amazing energy creeps into his conversation. He doesn't mince words for much questions. What he doesn't know he tries to find out, even if it requires back-breaking hours of studying and listening.

COMPARATIVELY unknown nationally a few months ago, he already is being lauded by Kentucky friends for a bright political future. Since his battle with all Kentucky enemies on the housing front is just beginning, that may be a bit premature. But, as Baby Snooks says, "Could be."

He is no political tyro. He fought the war as mayor of Louisville with a Republican dominated board of aldermen and eventually lost the bitterly fought battle for city acquisition of the Louisville Gas and Electric Co. Political wisdom teeth are that way.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

In 1926 Dr. Howard T. Barnes, of McGill University, spent the day in the area above Kinzua examining the ice conditions. The authority will also aid in breaking gorges near Oil City.

The No. 6 oil well drilled recently by the Wade concern on the east side near the ball park is producing over 40 barrels, five barrels better than when drilled.

Memories of the stirring days of "two-minute" orators and flaming posters will be brought to mind soon when interest becomes due on the Third Liberty Loan bonds.

Over one hundred committee men and women of the Democratic party held an organization meeting at the YWCA Dr. E. S. Briggs, county chairman, presided at the session.

According to borough officials, a WPA application is now being made to construct a thirteen-foot retaining wall along the bank of the Allegheny near Struthers-Wells.

Jess Turner's labor troubles

For four years Jess Turner ran his harness shop alone. But now his nephew's discharged from the Navy and is back to help him.

Right away, it seems that nephew Delbert has some new ideas. He wants more money, shorter hours—and meanwhile Jess' expenses have been going up!

So what does Jess do? He invites Delbert to sit down over a friendly glass of beer and talk the situation over. Jess figures how he can give Delbert some extra dollars, and certain interests in the business; and Delbert figures how he can speed up production on harnesses—and do some saddle work, besides. And they seal the bargain with another friendly glass of beer.

Of course, all labor troubles aren't so simple. But from where I sit, if there could be more friendly discussion—more give and take—more tolerance and understanding—both sides would be a heap better off.

Long Distance lends enchantment

WHEN A SERVICEMAN hits New York or San Diego after years overseas, there's no sound in all the world like that of a familiar voice from home.

It's still a big job to take the boys "home" by Long Distance telephone in a matter of minutes. But it's one your telephone company really enjoys.

Your cooperation in keeping Long Distance calls brief is still necessary to speed the calls of these returning servicemen. But many thousands of miles of Long Distance circuits are being installed to take care of the added demand for Long Distance service.

Delays in Long Distance connections will grow less and less. That, you can count on.

Emphasis For Lent

Giving a thought to the more serious things of life, those who have the responsibility of planning the PAK program have arranged another "Emphasis For Lent" schedule which will start next Sunday, March 10. This program urges that every PAK member attend his church twice on each of the six Sundays during Lent, obtaining the signature of his Sunday school teacher, an usher or other qualified adult for each service attended. A signature card for this purpose is being mailed to the full PAK membership.

Then, at the end of the six weeks of Lent, if the member has twelve signatures on his card, he will mail it or give it to Margy Hanna, 516 Market street, who will see that he receives a bid to PAK's "We Attended Party." This affair will take place shortly after Easter and will be gratis, the entertainment to be provided by directors of the organization.

Last year, PAK's "Emphasis For Lent" program resulted in 125 members' qualification for bids to the party—and those who attended indicate their determination to make it two in a row. Details for the party are a deep and carefully-guarded secret, but the brief announcement made to members suggests a hilarious evening—the new "time machine" to play an important part.

PAK will conduct a special Lenten service at Trinity Memorial church during Holy Week and another on Palm Sunday evening, a religious drama being presented in the latter instance.

Story Of Helen Keller Is Told To Blue Stockings

Blue Stocking Club members were entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Allison D. Wade, West Third avenue, with her mother, Mrs. Florence Tillotson, as assisting hostess. In the absence of the president, Miss Ethel Morrison conducted the brief business session.

Mrs. F. L. Plummer gave the program for the afternoon, substituting for Mrs. H. H. Barr, who was ill, her paper dealing with the life and work of Helen Keller.

Mrs. Plummer gave a resume of Miss Keller's very early years, following the readjustment period following her affliction, and the years of schooling under the supervision of Anne Sullivan Macy. A reference was made to the seven books and many articles Miss Keller has written, and her work in helping to establish the American Foundation for the Blind. Mrs. Plummer pointed out that through Miss Keller's eager, self-asserting disposition, and her courageous achievements, she has won a place as one of the twelve great living women. Much of her time during World War II has been given to visiting hospitals for blind veterans, bringing hope and courage to these wounded boys. Mrs. Plummer concluded her paper by quoting the thoughts and feelings she has experienced while standing in her Connecticut garden to greet the sunrise.

Tea was served from a beautifully appointed table at which Mrs. Harriet Wilkins and Miss Mabel Higgins presided.

The next club meeting will be March 19, Miss Mabel Abbott and Mrs. A. C. Flick, Jr., entertaining and Mrs. W. E. Lutz giving the program.

Bernard G. Ackert Jean Browning To Weds Texas Girl Return March 12th In Feb. 16 Rites In Voice Recital

On Saturday afternoon, February 2, at 4:30 o'clock, the First Baptist church of Beville, Texas, was the setting for the wedding of Martha Joyce Binford, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Binford, Beville, and Bernard G. Ackert, son of William E. Ackert, 209 Dobson avenue, this city. The Rev. Aubria A. Sanders read the double ring service.

The bride entered with her father, who gave her in marriage. She chose for her bridal gown a model of white lace and illusion. The fitted bodice of delicate lace had a sweetheart neckline, and her long, fitted sleeves tapered to petal points at the wrist. The full gathered skirt of illusion fell to the floor over white taffeta, and her matching fingertip veil cascaded from a scalloped coronet of lace. She wore a single strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom, and, for something old, carried a 90 year old handkerchief of hand made lace. Her bouquet was an orchid surrounded by white stephanotis and showered with white ribbons.

Christine Stephenson, attending her as maid of honor wore blue net, the embroidered bodice gathered to a full skirt, and carried a fan-shaped bouquet of pink carnations.

Benjamin Binford, AETM 3/c, brother of the bride, was best man and ushers were Byron E. Walters and Harold Culpepper.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride for the family, bridal party and a few intimate friends. The table was centered with branched candelabra wreathed with white candytuft and greens. White wedding bells and maline and a wreath of white roses and leaves decorating the cake completed the appointments.

After a two-week honeymoon, the couple are at home to friends in Waco, Texas. The bride is a graduate of A. C. Jones High School, being valedictorian of her class, and was graduated cum laude last May at Baylor University, receiving her bachelor of arts degree. She has been teaching in the elementary school in Beville. Mr. Ackert has just received his discharge after serving three years in the army, two of these at Camp Hood. He will enter Baylor University for study toward a music degree, having done some work in both piano and voice before entering the service.

One of the nicest pre-nuptials for Miss Binford was that given at the United Clubs by a group of friends, 100 guests signing the log.

A wedding dinner was served Saturday evening at the Segony home here, with the immediate family, relatives, and Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Connelly as guests.

The bride is a graduate of the Ludlow High School and graduate of Pennsylvania State College. Her latest employment has been at the Veterans Administration Center at Roanoke, Va.

Mr. Halluck is employed as a chef in a Pittsburgh hotel and they will make their home in that city.

WARREN Notes and Fashions

The big excitement of the week is the forthcoming inter-district playoff game with Erie Tech at Edinboro. . . . Every guy or gal who can borrow the family hack . . . or find a seat in the chartered bus . . . will be in Edinboro rooting the Dragons to victory (we all hope) . . . kind of hard losing to Jamestown, but it doesn't count . . . The Sunday-meeting HILDMOD GANG met as usual Sunday to chew the fat and spread the gossip around, with KIRBY, MARY, "DIET SMITH" FARRELL, AL HAMMY, BILL, JANET, GLORIA, WINNIE, PAUL, MOON, and KRESBAN answering the roll call . . . lots of ears were red before the session was over . . . The High School Social Club is planning a super-hyper-duper dance at the Woman's Club on Easter Monday . . . with music a great big unknown quantity . . . any smooth, swingy, melodious loose on that date? . . . JULIO FINO is seen back from Penn State . . . he's been hitch-hiking back kind of often for a student who's homesick for Warren in general and not in particular . . . who can she be? . . . Vivacious BONNIE JOHNSON is rather busy with BOB BEAN lately from cold, cold, dreary Iceland . . . it's a nice, warm welcome for a guy who's just come down from Eskimoland . . . anyway, it's lovely weather we've been having . . . BOB ANDERSON, of Jamestown, is going to tie the knot with JEAN THOMAS of Oak street one of these days . . . Another lucky Jamestown fellow taking the best from Warren . . . And a pep meeting for the Varsity five was held at JEAN MACLAREN's home last Saturday Eve . . . BABCOCK, REED, HARRIS, PATTERSON, ERICKSON were the guests of honor . . . SPECKMAN, LYKE, KAMERER, MACLAREN did the cheering . . . a good time was had by all, though they were forced to economize on the electricity . . . Famous "BARNEY OLDFIELD" BROWN didn't quite make the Jamestown game Monday night . . . High School clubs and organizations smiled self-consciously into the camera and saw the birdie for pictures for the '46 Dragon . . . TESS MARTIN visits relatives in her home town . . . but the truth of the matter is she goes back to Corry to whisper sweet nothings to GENE GRAHAM, the Corry football star . . . as she did last Saturday instead of going to a perfectly groovy party in Warren . . . Football Letter Assembly is to be held this week, with RAY REED passing out the Varsity sweaters . . . Strut your stuff with big W's . . . you've earned them . . . Seen together quite often are JEAN and KRESBAN, PATTY ALMENDINGER and ANDY MCCOMAS, GLORIA KOEBLEY and TINK BEAN, DALE HOLCOMB and JOHN KNAPP, and RACHEL SMITH and JOHN ROBERTSON . . . and wanting to be seen are the perfectly scrumptious Shaggy-text button-down coats . . . the softest gabardine you ever did see . . . with a lining that turns your Spring coat into a new winter one . . . and, lest we forget, give to the American Red Cross . . . The war's over, but the suffering is yet to be alleviated . . .

Bride of the Week

Last week this column reported that the Navy had taken a wife; this week the Army stepped in to claim its own.

Yes, this week's Bride of the Week is MISS ARLENE JOHNSON, better known to everyone as "Butch." Now "Butch" doesn't sound much like the name of a blushing bride, but that's just what she was—oh, so few days ago—with traditional white gown and yellow roses, when she became Mrs. Edward Allen!

Arlene has always lived in Warren, attending Lacy, Beaty and Warren High School here. And, until just a very short time ago, she was one of those much-questioned gals who were obliged to say "about a million times a week: 'I'm sorry, but your prints won't be ready for a day or two yet.'"

"Butch" goes in for outdoor sports

Pleasants In 49-37 Victory Over Eagles

Tionesta, March 6 — On over-taken Youngville high outfit was knocked out of the Upper Allegheny Mountain League Class B title chance last night by Pleasantville here, 49-37, but the Eagles went down fighting.

Having played four games within one week, the Eagles did not show the true form which they exhibited last Friday against the Pleasants in defeating them. A poor second quarter aided the Eagles' downfall.

Johnson and Smith were the evening's leading point-getters, but their efforts weren't enough to stifle a strong Pleasantville attack. The Pleasants led at half-time, 27-15.

Pleasantville will meet Cochran, Venango County Class B, champ, Thursday at Oil City for the District Ten title.

Tech Is Upset By Millcreek Five, 35 to 27

Warren's basketball Dragons will tangle with a team Friday night which they have never met, let alone know an awfully lot about—and it's all due to an upset victory last night in Erie's East High school gym.

The Trojans of Millcreek, coached by one Gus Anderson, turned the tide on a highly-favored Erie Tech outfit last night to clinch the Section One playoff berth of District Ten, 35-27.

Tech lost the services of its ace pointman in the third quarter. Len Eklund, powerful forwardman, sprained his ankle with two minutes left to play in the third and was forced out of the game for eight minutes before he returned to holding the Trojans.

Come Friday, the Trojans buck up against the Massmen in the opening inter-sectional round of District Ten play-off series. The game, an 8 o'clock tilt at Edinboro State Teacher's College, will decide the club which will meet Sharpville for district honors.

Warren mentor Joe Massa expects definite action from Jack Eaton and Gail Nelson will return to the Warren lineup Friday. Both players returned to the workouts today and engaged in a scrimmage with Ludlow High school.

Tickets are on sale for Friday's game at the high school office.

He took the title from Lou Ambers in 1940 by scoring a third round knockout. As champion, Lew defended the title three times in 1940 and 1941. He also fought a 10-round draw with Fritz Zivie, then the welterweight champion of the world, in Madison Square Garden in 1941.

Watch for later announcements of scheduled personal appearances.

Name Coaches Of Greenville Benefit Tilt

Greenville, Pa.—Selection of coaches who will direct the Class A and Class B all-star quintets in the first annual "Fight For Sight" basketball carnival here the night of Friday, March 15, was announced today by the Greenville Lions Club, sponsor of the benefit double-header.

Robert (IKE) Smiley, of Grove City High School, will be head mentor of the Mercer County Class A team and will have the capable assistance of William Ritter, of Hickory High. Both were selected by their fellow coaches in a poll conducted under the Lions' auspices.

Arranged against the Smiley-Ritter combination will be Gordon Smock, of Titusville High, and "Bud" Wells, veteran Oil City mentor. Coaches Smock and Wells have been assigned the all-star squad representing the District 10 Section Two League.

Paul Gibson, of Conneautville High, and Lyle McDowell, of Conneaut Lake High have been designated to handle the Crawford Class B League all-stars, who are to oppose a team from the Mercer County Class B ranks in the first game of the March 15 bazaar bill at the Thiel College gymnasium here.

The Mercer County "B" circuit's strategy board hinges upon the order in which the teams finish in the league's annual post-season championship tournament ending tomorrow evening.

The schoolmen agreed at the tourney's outset to delegate the all-star coaching chores to those men whose teams finished in the runner-up spot and walk off with the consolation honors in the tournament.

50 Boys Out For First Track Meet

Over fifty boys turned out Monday to the opening call of the track season, according to Harry Hutchings, track mentor and physical director at Beaty school.

A strong emphasis was placed on rejuvenating the sport here after a lapse of some four years. Hutchings urged every boy to do his best in returning to Warren a sport long neglected.

The youths participated in warm-up drills and prepared to engage in indoor drills at the start of next week. The drills will continue in Beaty gym as soon as the present scholastic cage picture is completed.

Forge Will Award Basketball Trophy

Officials of the National Forge and Ordnance Company, Irvine, Pa., announced today the awarding of a large basketball trophy to the District Ten, Section Two, team which cops the first three season championships in the coming years.

The award is similar to that of the Franklin Pneumatic Tool Company, of Franklin, which was awarded the championship Warren Dragons for taking the league title three times. The first team of the league, Warren, Oil City, Franklin, Meadville, or Titusville, to win Section Two honors three times will be given the award.

ATTEND MEETING AT OIL CITY

J. E. Leidig, Director of Athletics, and H. D. Harris, principal of Beaty school, attended a District Ten, Section Two, confab yesterday at Oil City, at which time the cage schedule for the 1946-7 season was set up and several other matters attended to.

HOPPE INCREASES LEAD

Detroit, March 5.—(AP) Willie Mosconi, world pocket billiard champion from Barrington, N. J., had a 4773-3892 advantage over Jimmy Caras of Wilmington, Del., as the two entered the second day of the Detroit stay in their cross-country challenger match.

First National Phone Tieup

In History Facing Country

what the National Federation says would happen, once the strike started:

All long-distance telephone operations in the 48 states would cease; most non-dial local telephone service would be discontinued; operation of dial phones would depend on how well they could be kept in repair; some teletype systems would be affected; and overseas telephoning would end.

The union says emergency calls could be handled by supervisors who are not members of the federation and therefore would be on the job.

The Federation's main negotiations for increased wages have been conducted with about a score of companies which are part of the Bell Telephone System. The parent company is the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

(The Federation has contracts with some independent companies and these would not be involved in the strike.)

Approximately 400,000 soft coal miners will be involved in the negotiations starting next Tuesday. Another 72,000 workers in the anthracite mines are covered by a contract which expires 30 days later than the soft coal pact.

The producers told the UMW president the union has as great a stake as management in the industry's future.

Lewis has asked that the current contract, negotiated last spring after an 11-day strike, be reopened on wages, working conditions

Widespread Publicity Is Given to Washington Park

A gift to the borough of Warren 22 years ago next month, Washington Park, which overlooks the city and stands as a living memorial to foresighted older residents, is the subject of an interesting article appearing in Pennsylvania Park News, published by the Pennsylvania Parks Association, and just off the press.

Written by Margaret Whitcomb, employed in the local office of the Department of Forests and Waters, and illustrated by Stoke's Studio, the article is headed "Washington Park" and reads as follows:

On April 24, 1924, a group of altruistic citizens, led by Charles T. Conarro, gave 65 acres of forest land to Warren, Pennsylvania. This tract was among the first forest areas in Pennsylvania given to a town. At the present time there are only 95 community forests, including town, county and township forests, in the whole State of Pennsylvania.

A bare, denuded hillside might face Warren if it had not been for the foresight of Charles T. Conarro, a Warren banker. Over 20 years ago timber cutters threatened to destroy the beauty of one of the wooded hills surrounding the beautiful town of Warren, located on the banks of the Allegheny River. As soon as Mr. Conarro heard that a timber buyer was negotiating for the purchase of this hillside and tableland above the borough, he interested other nature-loving citizens, who contributed $2,500 to buy the property. The land was first deeded to Mr. Conarro, but in 1924 this tract of 65 acres was given to the Borough of Warren to be used forever as a town forest and recreational area. In 1935 the property was annexed to the Borough.

The Forest consists mainly of a steep, wooded hillside; a plateau; and another, partly wooded hill which rises gently to the main dirt road on the northern side of the property.

On the face of the hill is a spring. In the forties, it furnished the Carver House, Warren's largest hotel, with pure, spring water, run through lead pipe.

The property is within walking distance from Warren, and it is also readily accessible to motorists over several roads which lead to the main road along the northern edge of the Forest.

The shortest route is a narrow trail, which starts a few steps north of the junction of Fifth Avenue with Laurel Street. The trail leads through the woods, up the steep hillside, to the Picnicking Area.

On the crest of the hill overlooking Warren, not far from one end of the hillside trail, there is a large boulder, set in a concrete base. Mrs. S. E. Walker, who ordered the first seedlings ever planted on this Forest, raised the money to erect the monument. A large plaque on one side is inscribed as follows:

THE BICENTENNIAL OF
GEORGE WASHINGTON
COMMEMORATED BY THIS TOWN FOREST PLANTED BY THE MAGNA CHARTA DAMES
THE SOCIETY OF
MAYFLOWER DESCENDANTS
THE ANCIENT AND
HONORABLE ARTILLERY
THE DAUGHTERS OF
AMERICAN COLONISTS
THE DAUGHTERS OF THE
AMERICAN REVOLUTION
THE U. S. DAUGHTERS OF 1812

On August 9, 1932, following the tree-planting referred to on the plaque, the Forest was dedicated and named "Washington Park". Very appropriate and impressive dedication exercises were conducted by Mrs. Walker. W. Floyd Clinger made a presentation speech.

A plaque on the other side of the boulder bears the following inscription:

THIS 60-ACRE TRACT PURCHASED AND PRESENTED TO THE BOROUGH OF WARREN BY 10 PUBLIC SPIRITED CITIZENS LED BY CHARLES TWINING CONARRO

April 25, 1924
The surveyed area of the Forest is 65 acres, instead of 60 acres.

Back of the monument, on the plateau and the slope rising from it, is the Washington Park Picnicking Area. It is in a grove of trees, mostly oak. Here about a dozen cement fireplaces and cement tables, with wooden benches affixed, have been built. Water is available from a well, which was drilled by the Borough Park Committee. It furnishes an inexhaustible supply of pure, spring water.

The Park is maintained by the municipality's Park Committee, of which Joseph H. DeFrees is chairman, at a cost of only a few hundred dollars a year. During a summer season, it is used by approximately 4,000 persons. They go there to picnic, to look at the trees, and to enjoy the magnificent panoramic view of the wooded hills, the peaceful valley, the beautiful town of Warren, and the winding river, which can be seen clearly from the plateau.

A good dirt road leads from the picnic ground, through the forest, to the main road where there is a large "Washington Park" sign.

On the area opposite this Park road hundreds of spruce and pine trees which were planted a number of years ago by the Park Committee, are developing into a veritable forest.

Tree planting on this Town Forest was begun in 1925, when the Women's Club of Warren had about 500 white pine seedlings planted. Since then 22,000 seedlings and transplants, including the George Washington Bicentennial Planting in 1932, have been set on barren slopes and in unplanted fields. White, red, and Scotch pine, and Norway spruce trees were planted; but a little over half were red pine. Many of these young trees can be seen from the Park road.

Through the effort of a few foresighted men and women, headed by Mr. Conarro, 65 acres, which might have become a barren eyesore, were preserved for the use of thousands of residents of Warren and vicinity. This group of civic-minded, nature-loving citizens gave to Warren one of the most lasting gifts which can be bestowed upon a municipality—a town forest.

Entertainers Break Record At Outing Club

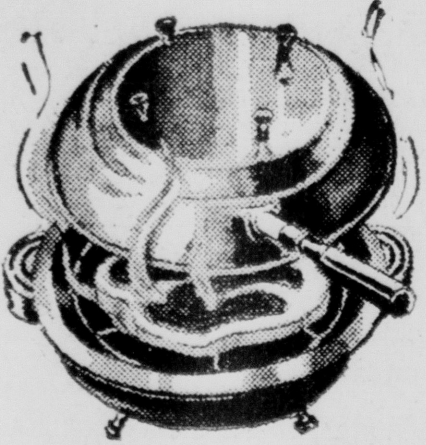

Johnny Morrison and Don Harmon have broken all records for attendance at the Warren Outing Club and the two performers have scored higher and won more applause than any others that have appeared. Morrison has a line of chatter that is funny, clean and clever. He never repeats and his supply of apt stories and quips is apparently endless. Harmon is a singer of more than ordinary ability and he had a repertoire of ballads and popular numbers that is most extensive. His ability to put across a song is out of the ordinary and the crowds have been insistent that these two men be retained for a third week.

The third act on the bill for this weekend will be Theresa Valencia, a control acrobatic dancer. She works on a pedestal and performs some feats that are thrilling. Booked to appear here last week she was taken ill and was unable to appear.

Tentative Plan For Study Program For War Veterans

It is anticipated that a meeting will be held here within the next week or ten days, when a representative of the state department of public instruction will assist with final plans for adoption of a special course of study for returned veterans.

Adopted at Monday's meeting of the board of education, the proposed plan is fully outlined in the following report presented by the committee on schools, Ralph Braxton, H. M. Mohr and Rev. Beecher M. Rutledge.

In order to provide a program for veterans who have not completed elementary or high school subjects, it is recommended that the supervised study correspondence program now in operation in the high school under the supervision of Pennsylvania State College and the University of Nebraska be made available to all veterans of World War No. 1, who are not high school graduates, in those subjects which are offered regularly in the Warren public schools. It is further recommended that there be no age limit for participants.

It is further recommended that this program be set up on the general program of adult education as provided by the state, and that each veteran be required to make a deposit of $5.00 upon registration, which deposit is returned to him upon the completion of course. It is further recommended that the school district assume full responsibility as to the cost of the program on the adult program basis, except as the federal government may subsidize the school district.

It is further recommended that registration be made for elementary school subjects in the office of the superintendent and for high school subjects, grades 9 through 12, in the office of the high school principal.

It is recommended that veterans studying under this supervised study correspondence program and meeting both the requirements of the State Council of Education for high school graduation and the requirements of the Warren High School in any particular course be regularly graduated.

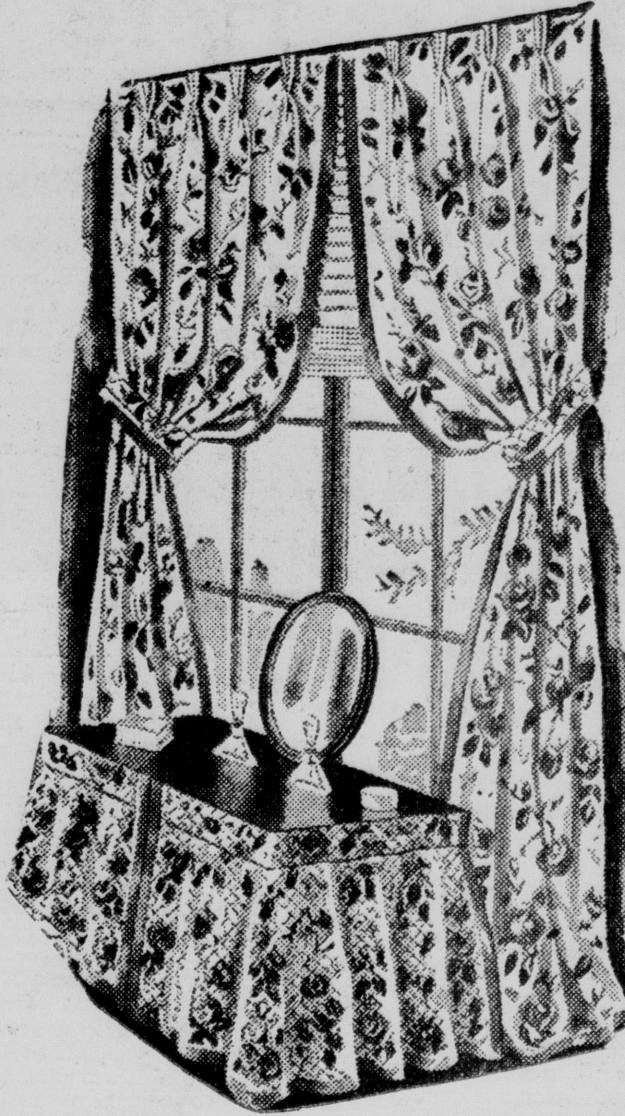

It is further recommended that a second program as outlined and approved by the State Council of Education be afforded certain veterans desiring high school diplomas. To be eligible for this diploma the veteran must have completed the freshman and sophomore years of high school with credit allowed for military training and, specifically, must have completed 8th and 10th grade English, one year of social studies, and one year of American history. It is recommended that veterans who meet these requirements and successfully pass the high school tests of general educational development of the USAFI as recommended by the American Council of Education be graduated by the Warren High School with a special diploma issued by the Warren High School stating the conditions of graduation and with separate commencement exercises, preferably held in May of each year.

One of the country's outstanding bridge clubs is the Regency Club of New York. Ed Cherone, who conducts the duplicate games there, has increased attendance by giving the players different types of games. In a team-off contest he ran recently, Leo L. Leventritt made six-odd on today's hand with a progressive squeeze.

West played the queen of hearts on the opening lead and Leventritt won. He cashed six diamond tricks, and West had to make five discards. If he discarded his three hearts including the king, and two clubs, the jack of hearts would squeeze him again. If he let go a spade, Leventritt could finesse the jack of spades and cash the whole spade suit. That is what happened in this case.

The only way West could hold the hand to five-odd would be to bore down to the ace of clubs. When he won the ace, he could then cash the king of hearts.
